

NORWICH
TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Dec. 22, 2009

To whom it may concern,

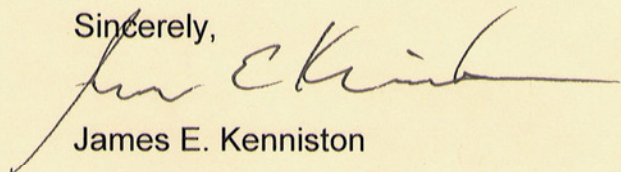

During the past four years, I have had the privilege of serving as Jonathan Seal's Department Head. I have always found him to be conscientious, level-headed, and very well prepared. He is intelligent, thoughtful and responsible. He has a presence in the classroom and has always shown a willingness to adapt by using new technological resources and methodology.

He has a thorough knowledge of mathematics and the use of resources like sketchpad and graphing calculators.

Jonathan has been a technology resource for our entire school building over the past few years. He is who staff members turn to with their technology problems, both hardware and software. Without extra time in his schedule, he manages to solve everybody's problems. He has served as trainer at technology workshops, assisted in the creation of the school schedule, developed a data base using Microsoft Access for the Student Assistance Team, and currently serves as yearbook advisor and chair of the School Improvement Team's technology committee.

I feel that Jonathan Seal will make an excellent administrator. He maintains his cool under pressure, and combines a nice sense of humor with an efficient business-like approach. He is a selfless team player whose resourcefulness, dependability, work ethic and people skills enable him to be an effective leader. My only regret is that we will lose a valuable resource and a great teacher.

Sincerely,

James E. Kenniston
